

Dont forget your papers are due at 5 o'clock the last day of class

Room 2501

Procrastinator M.

The trials & tribulations of writing a Term Paper

Back home our hero decides to get started early

I swore that this time I was going to get started early...

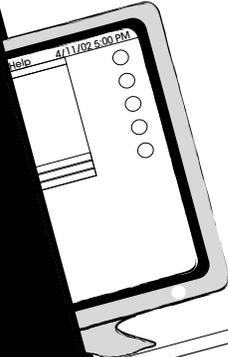

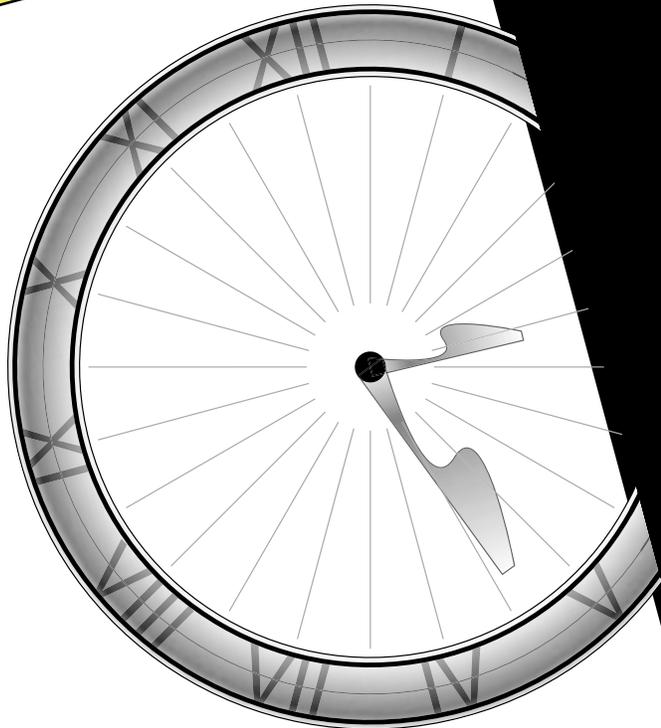

...but what am I going to write, what am I going to write?

AARGGHHH!!!

As diligent as our hero was, inspiration was decidedly absent but not all is lost, the M. is off to see the muse...

My other half might have some ideas, if not, at least I'll have some fun before getting back to the grind stone.

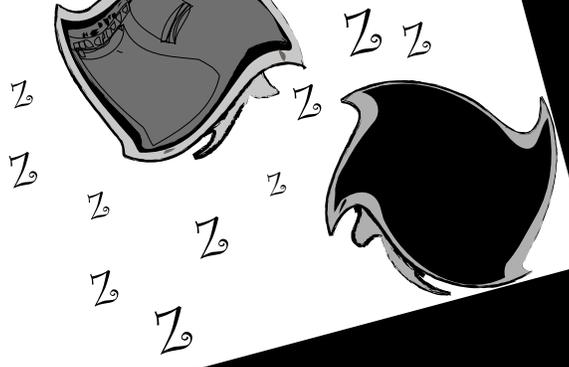

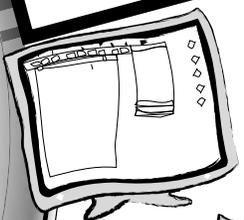

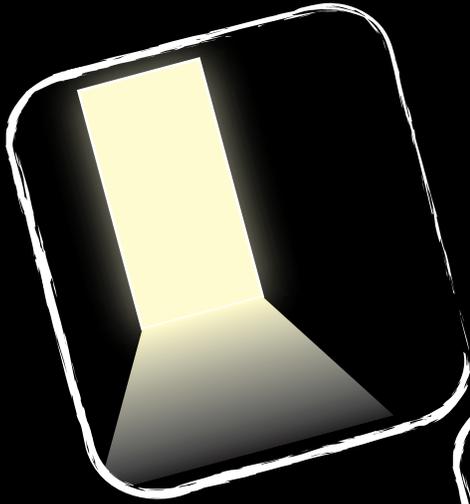

Rejuvenated, our hero returns from meeting with the Muse...inspiration in tow.

AAAHHHH, wish that would never have ended. But now at least my head is clear and I can think about my paper.

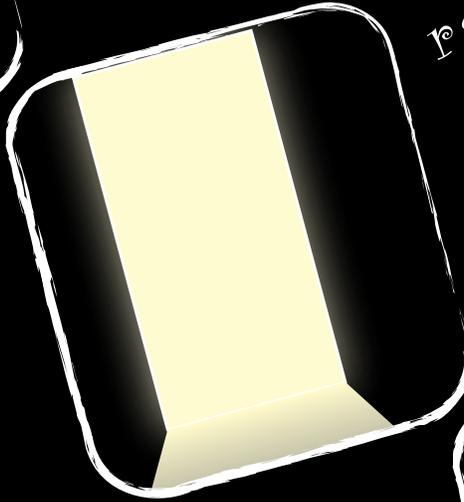

Oh'hum So sleepy, maybe I will just take a short nap first.

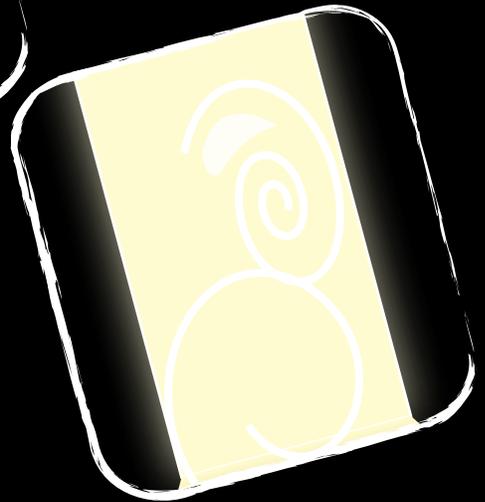

Follow
the white rabbit

What!?! Where am I?

Click

Click

Hey...I remember that.
the glowing sandbox
I would play in it for hours

Come

Come

There is still more to see

Click

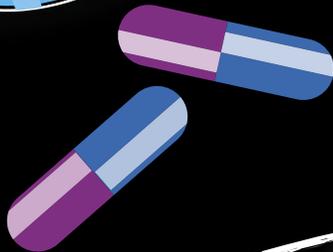

Click

Click

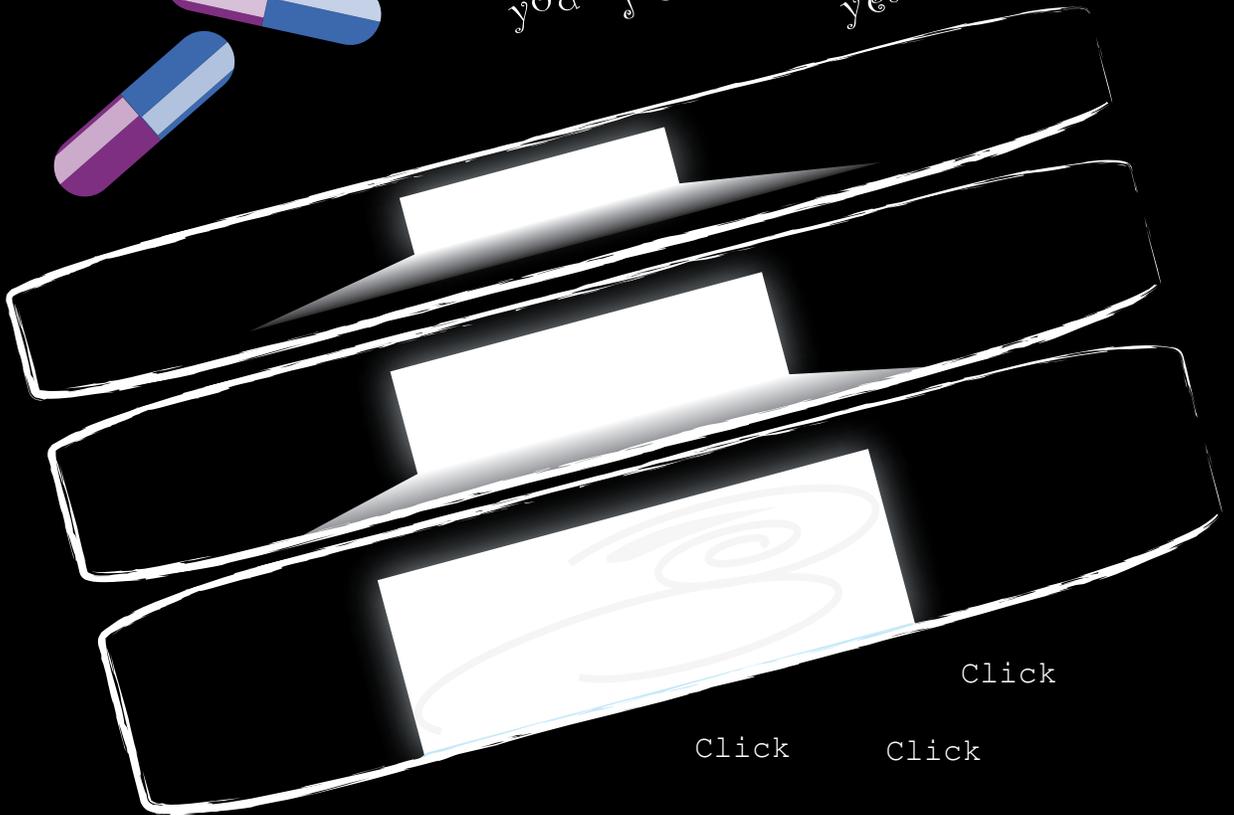

Click

Sponge capsules...
...I ate a few to many of those when I was a kid.

Come
your journey isn't yet over

Click

Click

Click

Over yet, what isn't over your journey

What journey?!

the one needing completion

Your getting it nearly complete now

Oh shit...
my paper

My paper?

z

z

z

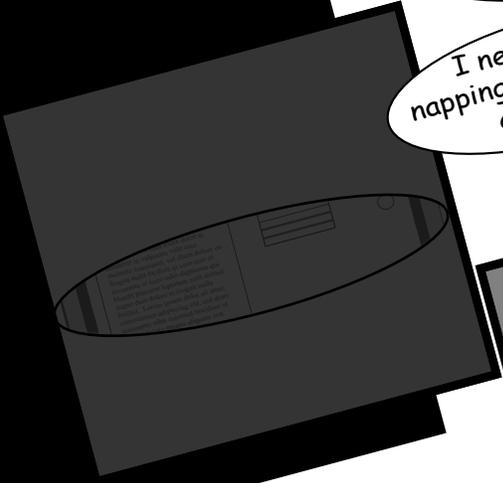

Click

Click

Click

Click

Refreshed our hero begins to awaken...

Ahh
Oh feels like I didn't sleep at all.

I need to stop napping in front of my computer.

Z Z

... and oddly to completed homework

What's this?
Or maybe not, seems I've been typing in my sleep again.

Done early?
That's a first, guess now all I have to do is wait to turn it in.

After all, I can't let my secret out.